COMMUNITECH +VG
We are a proud member of the Communitech Network

+VG Architects has a history of providing clients with innovation in design solutions, project management and fiscal strategies. The firm continues to monitor global shifts in education, health and cultural patterns and consider future implications. Recognizing the evolving nature of programs and services our clients face, +VG is committed to developing partnerships that explore the shape of these environments. We believe that today's climate of integrated arts and science technologies brings exciting opportunities for more engaging, accessible and collaborative places.

Our work at The Communitech Hub will focus on the spatial, social and philosophical relationship between computers and design practice; cognitive models of human-computer interaction; 3D modeling, interactive multimedia, digital video, and computer mediated communication as it relates to the practice of architecture.

Stay tuned as we ask the big questions, entertain long conversations and invite your thoughts.
